A PACIFIC RAILWAY
GOLD LOAN
$6,500,000.
We have the honor to announce that we have accepted the agency of the Kansas Pacific Railway Company,
For the Sale of the Seven Per Cent.
Thirty-Year Gold Loan, Free from Tax,
This Loan amounts to $6,500,000.
First Mortgage Land-Grant & Sinking Fund Bonds,
secured upon the extension of the Railway from near Sheridan, in Kansas, to Denver, Colorado, a distance of 237 miles, of which 12 miles are completed, and the rest is under construction. It is also a Mortgage upon the Road, the Rolling Stock and Franchises of the Street Railway, between now running through the State of Kansas.
And in Successful Operation for 437 Miles
West of the Missouri River, and earning already enough to meet all of its expenses and existing liabilities, besides.
More than the Interest upon this New Loan.
In addition to this the Bonds are also secured by a first mortgage on the GOVERNMENT LAND GRANT OF THREE MILLION ACRES,
extending in alternate sections on either side of the track, from the 394th mile post in Kansas to Denver. The proceeds of the sale of these lands are to be invested by the Trustees in the 7 per cent. Bonds themselves up to par or in U. S. Bonds, as A Sinking Fund for the Redemption of the Bonds.
The lands embrace some of the finest portion of the magnificent territory of Colorado, including a coal field and pinery. The Company also holds as an asset another tract of Three Millions of Acres in the State of Kansas, and although not pledged as a security for this Loan, their proceeds add largely to the Company's wealth and credit. We estimate the Value of the Company's Property covered by this Mortgage, at $28,000,000 net, while the Loan is merely $6,500,000,
The Bonds have
THIRTY YEARS TO RUN,
From May 1, 1869, and will pay
Seven per cent. Interest in Gold,
Semi-annually, on May 1 and Nov. 1, and are Free from Government Taxation;
The Company paying the tax.
The principal of the Loan is made PAYABLE IN GOLD, in the City of New York, but each coupon will be Payable in Frankfort, London or New York, at option of the holder, without notice, at the following rates:
On $1,000 Bond in New York, $35 (gold) each half year.
Or $1,000 Bond in London, £7 1s. 10d. each half year.
Or $1,000 Bond in Frankfort, 86 fl. 30 kreuz. each half year.
The Agents of the Loan, before accepting the trust had the condition of the Road, and the country through which it runs, carefully examined. They are happy to give the Loan an emphatic endorsement as a
FIRST CLASS INVESTMENT,
In every respect perfectly sure, and in some essentials even Better than Government Securities.
The Bonds will be sold for the present at 96, and accrued interest, both in Currency,
The Agents reserving the right to advance the rate.
The attention of investors is invited to these well secured bonds, which we recommend as one of the most profitable investments in the market.
Gold and Government Securities taken in payment at their market value, without commission.
Pamphlets with maps giving full information, sent on application.

Penobscot Log Driving Co.
THE following is copy of Act additional to the charter of said Company, passed by the last Legislature, viz:
Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives, in Legislature assembled, as follows:
Section 1. That on all logs exceeding forty feet in length driven by said company under their charter, such additional toll shall be assessed for driving, as in the opinion of the directors shall be reasonable, arising from the increased expense of driving the same.
Section 2. Said company may make contracts for driving or assist in driving logs outside of the limits of the company on the Penobscot waters; and for any sum due for such driving, the same lien shall exist and be enforced in the same manner as is provided for other logs.
Section 3. Said company may build or assist in building and keep in repair, any steamboats or other craft, that in their opinion, or in the opinion of the directors, may be advantageous in facilitating the progress of the drive, the expense of which may be apportioned upon the logs of different years, as they may think proper.
Section 4. This act shall take effect when approved.
Approved February 11, 1869.

A Defensive Medicine.
"In time of peace prepare for war," is a sound military maxim. "Let not the sickly season find you unprepared," is an equally good rule in medical jurisprudence. The man must be made of iron who finds himself at the close of summer as strong as at its commencement. Such a phenomenon is rare, even among the most robust of the human family. Muscular and constitutional vigor oozes out of us in the broiling weather of July and August, and few of us, at the opening of the Fall, are in the best possible condition to defy the unhealthy influences of the season.
Fever and ague and bilious remittent fevers, together with a variety of complaints that affect the digestive organs, the liver and the bowels, form a portion of the Autumn programme. Bear in mind that exhaustion invites these disorders, and that stamina, vigor enables the system to repel them. "To be weak is to be miserable," says Satan to his defeated legions, in "Paradise Lost," and the axiom is correct, though it comes from an evil source.
Ho! then, ye weak and feeble, fortify yourselves against the invisible enemy that pervades the autumnal air. The best defence against miasma is a course of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This rare vegetable tonic will improve your appetite, stimulate your digestion, give firmness to your nerves, invigorate your muscular fibre, regulate your secretions, cheer your spirits, and put your entire physique in perfect working order. It is easily done. The standard tonic and alterative which will recuperate and build you up, is not "bad to take," but, on the contrary, a pleasant medicine.
See, however, that you have the genuine article. There are imitations and counterfeits in the market, and they are all worthless or deleterious. Bear in mind that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is sold only in glass, (never by the gallon or cask), and that each bottle bears a label surmounted by a vignette of St. George and the Dragon, and our revenue stamp over the cork.

LOAN
COUNTY OF PENOBSCOT.
TREASURER'S OFFICE, PENOBSCOT COUNTY,
BANGOR, May 22, 1869.
The Legislature at its last session having authorized the Treasurer of Penobscot County to procure by loan and issue bonds therefor, a sum not exceeding Sixty Thousand Dollars, for the purpose of building a Jail and House of Correction, proposals will be received at this office for any portion of said loan, of not less than Five Hundred Dollars, up to Twenty Thousand Dollars. The loan is reimbursable by the County, at the rate of Three Thousand Dollars in each and every year, commencing with the year 1871, and ending in 1890. Bonds of $500 each will be issued dated June 1st, 1869, bearing six per cent. interest, with coupons attached for semi-annual interest, payable both principal and interest either in Bangor or Boston.
This affords a fine opportunity for an investment where the security is perfect.

Class Conventions.

Republican Conventions, for the purpose of nominating candidates for Representatives to the Legislature, will be holden as follows: In class composed of Hermon, Carmel, and Levant, Town House, Hermon, on THURSDAY, Sept. 9th, at 2 o'clock P. M. Each town entitled to ten delegates.

Be Wise in Season.

We risk nothing in asserting that the best and ablest temperance men of the country discountenance the foundation of a third party at this time to waste the energies that should be unitedly directed to the suppression of intemperance. The oldest men temperance in our State are earnestly laboring in the republican party. Beyond our State the statement holds just as good. Among the most prominent temperance men in the country is the Hon. Edward C. Delevan of New York. He has been quoted as authority in the cause of prohibition far and wide. Not having been able to attend the national temperance convention at Chicago, he wrote a letter containing many hints of value at this time. We quote one portion: "I have been asked what my views are with regard to the use of the ballot. I would premise by saying that I have always been in favor of employing moral suasion to induce as many as possible to abandon the use and sale of intoxicating liquors as a drink, and moral suasion also to convince the voter, whatever his party, that it is his duty to God and his family to use his ballot to destroy the license system and prohibition. With my present views I am opposed to the policy of a separate party, which would exhaust itself in trying to attain that end; but I would appeal to the total abstainers and prohibitionists within the respective political circles to make use of their utmost influence to bring about the desired result; for by doing this they do not in any degree interfere with political parties, or act inconsistently, but, in my judgment, take a great religious question out of partisan strife."

With all the best evidence on the side of the Republican organization, we trust the short time now remaining to the election in Maine will be occupied in repairing the evil of an independent party to defeat us. We believe the best men of the Hichborn party are open to conviction. All they need is evidence like this of Mr. Delevan to convince them that the only true course is to unite in sustaining the Republican nominees. There is plenty of it. See that they have it properly presented to them.

Teachers' Institute at Waterville.

Editor of the Daily Whig:

The Teachers Institute which closed at Waterville on Friday last after a session of five days, was the first we have had in this State for fifteen years. Taking the number in attendance as a criterion, its success was only fair; but making zeal and earnest continuous work on the part of all connected with it the test, it was grand. From 8½ o'clock in the morning till 9 in the evening, except during reasonable intermissions for dinner and supper, work of some kind was in order. Variety took away its irksomeness, and increased its profit. For instance, one hour was devoted to an exposition of the science of teaching, another to the practical application of the principles developed; a third was occupied with a discussion of methods of teaching some branch of study, and a fourth with the answering and discussion of questions from the "query-box." The evenings were devoted to the general lectures. We all came away well filled with educational matter, and what is better with the spirit of an improvement. I believe this Institute will yield a perpetual harvest of good fruits. I have heard men who have been identified with every educational movement in the State for a third of a century—veterans in the service—say that never in their day had there been a convention of teachers and educators in the State, from which so powerful an influence for the good of our schools had gone out as from this. If this is so, and I doubt not that it is, does not the fact that thirty-two of these Institutes are to be holden in the State in the next three months, warrant the belief, that a new and better educational era has at last dawned upon us?

We are to have two of these Institutes in Penobscot County, one at Orono on the 20 inst., the other at Newport on the 28th. They may and must be the means of much good to our schools. Their office is teaching teachers how to teach. This they cannot do unless teachers present themselves. Let me urge all Committees to take this matter in hand, and send a goodly number of teachers to the Institutes, and come themselves.

Information in regard to specific arrangements will be given hereafter.

S. A. PLUMMER,
County Supervisor.

The Further Decrease of the Public Debt.

From the intelligent tables first introduced into the monthly Treasury reports by Secretary Boutwell we learn that the gold-bearing debt of every kind, including [illegible] interest thereon and past due [illegible] presented, and also gold notes, [illegible]

At the close of July, less gold in the Treasury, to ... $2,046,284,430

[illegible] $10,000,000 is in United [illegible] purchased during the month [illegible] to the Sinking Fund. The [illegible] fund now amounts to $37,331,-[illegible]

The outstanding circulation and currency certificates of the Treasury at the [illegible] amounted, after deducting [illegible] notes on hand, to $435,-[illegible]. At the close of August, after deducting $12,111,457, notes on hand, they [illegible] $11,062,002. The whole comparative [illegible], therefore, is a

Decrease in gold debt of ... $16,283,831
Decrease in circulation ... 10,070,606

Net decrease in August ... $5,604,[illegible]

The apparent increase in circulation [illegible] with the Treasury to the [illegible] the Pension Agents, in whose favor [illegible] for $10,000,000 has been drawn in anticipation of their half-yearly [illegible] payments which commence on the [illegible], and will run through the whole month of September.

[illegible] are the results of a single [illegible] administration of the Treasury. [illegible] reason to doubt that the payment [illegible] through the Fall months, [illegible] as it has been going on over [illegible] March.

[illegible] with the 4th of March, 1869, when the Administration took charge [illegible] and its finances, the following changes have been made in the [illegible] public debt, including accrued [illegible]:

	March 1, 1869.	Sept. 1, 1869.
[illegible]	$1,602,567,350	$1,5[illegible]

[illegible]	$2,525,463,259	$2,475,962,[illegible]

[illegible] American people ask a better [illegible] administration that has [illegible] many disadvantages as the [illegible] corrupt and extravagant [illegible] Democracy? Verily, the [illegible] Republican party is but just [illegible].

[illegible] the renomination of Mr. [illegible] from Aroostook, the [illegible]. We hope the action of this [illegible] put an end to the nonsense [illegible] often heard, that the rallying [illegible] was between Mr. Cary on [illegible] and the people of Aroostook [illegible] between Houlton on one [illegible] rest of the county on the [illegible]. Mr. Cary was not a delegate, and [illegible] while Houlton had 11 delegates [illegible] all these had declined to [illegible] would not have been [illegible].

[illegible] Nabobs in Favor of a Permanent National Debt.

[illegible] N. Y. World, the organ of Belmont [illegible], who really control the [illegible] is enraged beyond measure [illegible] Mr. Boutwell is paying off the [illegible]. It demands that taxes shall [illegible] the debt may be kept as [illegible] Mr. Belmont and his friends may [illegible] gold interest on their investments [illegible] public funds. The World [illegible] example of Great Britain [illegible] followed. It says:

[illegible] wealthiest, and financially [illegible] intelligent nation on the [illegible] it wise to make any [illegible] reduce the debt. As soon [illegible] surplus revenue, the first [illegible] British financiers and statesmen [illegible] attention, is a diminution of [illegible] by taking off some of [illegible] reduce the surplus. They [illegible] of the national wealth as [illegible] the reduction of the [illegible]. Although the British debt [illegible] the credit of the British [illegible] best of any in the world.

[illegible] of Gen. Grant's Administration [illegible] off the National Debt. [illegible] believe that there is no [illegible] the burdens so desirable, [illegible] interest of the National [illegible] the principal of it. The example [illegible] Britain has no attractions [illegible] not want either a king, [illegible] or a permanent National Debt. The Belmonts, and the real leaders of the Democratic party, want all three of these things. They are now openly for a "stationary" public debt, and they know very well that this will lead to the destruction of Republican constitutions, and that is what they want. They have never forgiven the country for having put down slavery, and as they cannot have black slaves, they are determined to have white ones. The slavery of a permanent National Debt is to console them for the emancipation of the negroes.

One of the best political efforts of the day is made by the Richmond State Journal. Even those who are opposed to the unforcement of the test oath in Virginia must enjoy it. The Walker party has constantly objected to requiring the oath of persons elected to the legislature, and its papers have been particularly fearful that in cases where the member chosen was not eligible under this test the next highest at the poll who was eligible would be given the seat. They have appealed to the cases of North Carolina and Georgia, where the oath was not required. The Richmond Journal assents to this proposition. It recalls what was done in the case of Georgia, where to be sure the oath was not required; but another test was established which was to be found neither in the reconstruction laws nor in the State constitution. Twenty-five colored men were expelled from the House arbitrarily, and their seats filled with those who stood next highest at the poll. In this case, too, the voters had cast their ballots for colored men in the full belief that they were eligible, while the reconstruction law is so clear on the matter of the test oath that the voters in Virginia must have had reason to apprehend that the oath might be required and their candidates, if elected, might be unseated.

A dispatch from Hayti Aug. 26, via Havana, says the rebel steamers Florida and Columbia, have bombarded the town of Gonaives. President Salnave had raised the siege of Aux Coyes, and sailed with the steamers Galatia and Salnave to Port au Prince. His steamers became disabled and he was unable to operate against the town. Salnave is now anxiously awaiting the arrival of an iron-clad from the United States. One dollar in gold is valued at $1,000 in the paper money of the government.

We hear much of the rapid progress of the [illegible] Democratic press. This can [illegible] apply to such things as the following from the Tuscaloosa Monitor:

[illegible] the good work progress. Several [illegible] who have been in the habit of [illegible] the negro blacksmith, Charles Williams, now inform us that they have [illegible] advise all others to follow [illegible] low scoundrel, Bill Dorset, [illegible] in the negro store near [illegible], voted and electioneered for the Radicals. He is a consummate villain and a dangerous character. We trust [illegible] will patronize him [illegible] form. Starve the [illegible] vote for scallawags that they [illegible] votes of the white men among [illegible] and from whom they make [illegible].

The Governor General of New Brunswick [illegible] the other day at St. John, [illegible] response to the toast, "The [illegible] Governor General of the Province of New Brunswick," Sir John Young said that the opposition to the Union [illegible] with Canada is dying away, [illegible] the speedy reconciliation of [illegible] advantages gained by the [illegible] and Scotland, and the [illegible] and the advantages [illegible] Zollverein during the last [illegible] such results as should be [illegible] this confederation." Sir John Young [illegible] evidently actuated by the [illegible] relative to the union.

[illegible] Puerto Principe, Cuba, state [illegible] three times attacked the [illegible] at Santera Pio, but retreated [illegible] of ten men.

[illegible]. The opinion of the [illegible] South Carolina, regarded as [illegible] prepared, fixes the number of [illegible] this year at 200,000 to 225, [illegible] last year. The Sea Island [illegible] is made up as follows: [illegible] Carolina, 4825 bales; from [illegible] Florida, 6148. The [illegible] price is placed at 55,0[illegible] 000 last year.

[illegible] PREDICTION. An Catholic [illegible]—the Rev. Mr. [illegible] journal called the [illegible] on the 30th of September [illegible] of this year, Peru [illegible] overwhelmed by the [illegible] quake that has yet been [illegible] gentleman is a savant of [illegible] and has formed [illegible] regarding the cause of these [illegible] them to the influence [illegible] and other celestial bodies [illegible] water contained in this [illegible] the ideas of the reverend [illegible] correct or not is not known, [illegible] is yet not agreeing [illegible] regarding earthquakes, [illegible] indiscriminately on not [illegible] and Ecuador people are [illegible] and Mr. Faith may have [illegible] of having spread [illegible] republics, containing [illegible] 000 of inhabitants. He [illegible] of his journal published [illegible] which he distinctly predicted [illegible] movement of the earth that [illegible] felt in August 1868, and [illegible] certainty of the coming [illegible].

[illegible] from an account in the [illegible] of the Petersburg [illegible] interview with General [illegible] to the explicit enough:

"General Canby,—As far as it lies with me, the way to reconstruction, and the only way, is for all the ineligible members elect of the Legislature to resign, and I will thereupon order new elections to fill the vacancies thus made. If then, eligible men are returned, I will promptly take every measure necessary to the full restoration of the State Government.

Committee Man.—Whom do you consider ineligible?

General Canby.—All who cannot or who refuse to take the test oath prescribed by Congress.

Committee Man.—You have then determined that the Legislature must not meet as at present constituted?

General Canby.—Yes; the test oath is a sine qua non, in my judgment, and I am confident that a quorum of the present body cannot take it."

BILLIARDS. The chief topic in billiard circles is the forthcoming match between John Deery of New York and Melvin Foster of New London, Ct., for the possession of the diamond cue and the title of Master Billiard Player. Both men are said to be in excellent play, and although the latter is slightly the favorite, it is conceded upon all sides that the struggle will be close. In point of skill, it would be impossible to find two players better fitted to oppose each other, and it is quite certain that nerve will decide the contest. Foster is perfecting himself at his room in New London, giving most of his opponents, the odds of grand discount in games of 200 points.

POST OFFICE INSTRUCTIONS. The following new section has been added to the general instructions to Post Office Inspectors:

"The regulations of the department require that waste paper and undelivered printed matter shall be sold by Postmasters for the highest price attainable therefor, and that the amount of the proceeds thereof shall be entered in the quarterly account. Post Office inspectors will make it a special subject of inquiry whether any Postmaster fails to comply with these important regulations."

A wonderful event took place in New York, Wednesday. A clerk in the Sanitary Department having been transferred to a room where other clerks, doing the same kind of which he will have to do, receive a salary of $1,500 a year, while his pay is $1,800, made a formal request in writing that his salary be reduced to $1,500. On motion, the request was granted, but afterward the vote was reconsidered and the matter was referred to the Finance Committee. Why such a request should be refused is not plain. Perhaps they thought the man crazy.

Dam at Treat's Falls.

The improvement of the water power of the Penobscot at Treat's Falls, which would double the population of Bangor in ten years, may now be made without any extraordinary expenditure in the matter of damages. How long this will continue to be so, nobody can foresee. We know that the use of the shore for steam mills and other purposes, is contemplated. Delays may double the damages to result from the erection of a dam at Treat's Falls. Delays, therefore, are dangerous, and in this case, there is no fair excuse for delays.

Manufacturers do not build dams. They buy water power after dams are built. We must do as Waterville has done, create the power and then offer it in market, just as men build stores and rent them afterwards.

The proposition made to the city three years ago, was a perfectly fair one, and unless the city will agree to something substantially like that, we may not have a dam for a generation. That proposition was, that the city should bind itself, after the completion of the works, to contribute two-fifths of their cost, as a gratuity, this contribution not to exceed, in any event, a certain and fixed sum to be agreed upon. Without a contribution of that sort, no company will be found ready, if we can judge from the experience of the past, to encounter the hazards of the unavoidable law suit with the owners of the mill property at Veazie.

There are no obstacles in the way. A liberal charter exists, and, as I know, will be turned over to any set of men in Bangor who will undertake the work. The charter gives the right to take all necessary lands at an appraisement. Now is the time to canvass the subject, so that the legislation to enable the city to act may be applied for and obtained during the coming winter.

The sooner this waste power is developed the sooner it will be used and the sooner we shall get the benefit of it. It will double the value of property in Bangor, and of all the railroads leading out of Bangor. We may just as well have a population of fifty thousand here, as of half that amount.

There is no speculation in the matter. The charter is offered freely to anybody who will take and make use of it. Stock in the company will be open, upon terms of exact equality, to everybody who chooses to subscribe for it.

The Hichborn meeting at City Hall last evening was not a heavy affair. A small number only were present, about equally divided between ladies, Hichbornites, republicans, and democrats, the latter of whom rendered good assistance in applauding the speakers, clapping heartily when a "point" was made or attempted against the republican party. The meeting was addressed by Messrs. Tolman and Hancom, Col. Kimball acting as Chairman and Mr. Burford as Secretary.

A Card from the Rev. Mr. Randall.

To the Editors of the Lewiston Journal:—

As you were pleased to copy my letter published in the Portland Press a few weeks since, I would esteem it a favor if you would insert the following:—

For nearly forty years I have been actively engaged in the Temperance cause of Maine, [illegible] voting and praying for it. I have endeavored to harmonize my political action with my [illegible] and praying. During the war, while the life of my country was in peril, I, together with thousands of others in the State, held my political action in the republican party, being assured by that [illegible] that party that no one in the Legislature and [illegible] a temperance man should do. [illegible] voted with them. When the war was [illegible] gone [illegible] the [illegible]. But the [illegible] hold of the republican party, but in the last two or three years it has been averse to the pledge. The Republican party has been in power for the last twelve years, and I could depend upon that to give whatever they pleased to do, but they have [illegible] upon other subjects. The party [illegible] before this [illegible] for whatever has been done upon any other subject.

And how have they done? In obedience to a great pressure brought to bear upon them, they enacted a constabulary law, but at the very next session, before the law which was an experiment had an opportunity to develop its properties, at the [illegible] of a single request authoritatively expressed by the people, and, in view of the fact, known and read of all that the law, although with [illegible] nine months' experience, was proving a most efficient means of closing the grog shops, they repealed it. Not content with this, they changed the Maine law in one of its important features, repealing parts which had been adopted by the people, and thereby losing a constitutional majority. Last winter though requested to do so by more than thirty thousand petitioners, they refused to re-enact that or any State constabulary law, or adopt any other effective measure for the execution of the Maine law.

Again, Governor Chamberlain had become obnoxious to the Temperance men of Maine. He had declined, when invited and urged, to preside in a State Temperance Convention. He had thrown the weight of his official influence against the reenactment of the State Police, and his friends openly asserted that if it should pass he would veto it. Therefore, in the absence of any known act of his official or private, given to the friends of prohibition, they objected to his renomination, and private citizens, and large and respectable resolutions [illegible] hope and his renomination, and they resorted the fact that they could not support him if nominated, unless they could have assurance that he would give his official and private example in favor of prohibition and its enforcement, instead of disregard of all these protests and wishes on the part of the temperance men he was urged upon by the convention.

I went into the Bangor Convention with a hope that I might do something to save the Republican party and the temperance cause from ruin. A very mild temperance resolution was adopted, instead of a stronger one I proposed to the committee on resolutions, and Gov. Chamberlain was renominated. I still felt inclined to hold on to the party, and hold them to their resolution, being assured by friends that the Governor's letter of acceptance would be all right and satisfactory to the temperance friends. Hence I opposed the organization of a third party at the Temperance Convention in Portland, until we should ascertain what course the party and its representative should take. At length the letter came, and such a letter. It fell like a wet blanket upon the party, and, under all the circumstances, was an insult to the temperance men of Maine. I still thought I would wait. It might be that the party in their county conventions would carry out their professions, at Bangor, and thus control the matter, save themselves and their Governor. But I have failed to learn in a single county or senatorial district where this question has been taken into the account at all in the nominations. To be sure, in some strong temperance districts, where they dare not do otherwise, some temperance men have been nominated, and some who had voted for the constabulary law have been renominated, but this was not the question which determined the action of the convention, but only in accordance with usage, and because they were laborers in the Republican party. I know that in some of these conventions the Bangor resolution were endorsed, but at the same time Gov. Chamberlain was warmly commended, letter of acceptance and all, while in other districts known opponents of prohibition have been nominated, with considerable reliance upon prohibition. Now if the party were sincere and intended to carry out their professions made at Bangor, this subject would have been a leading question in their primary meeting, and their leading papers would advocate it, but, with the exception of your own, I have yet to see an article in advocacy of this subject. On the contrary, some have tried to make the impression, in accordance, I fear, with the facts in the case, that the resolution did not mean much; and they have said anything but good of leading temperance men and their measures.

In view of these facts, I am constrained from principle, and consistency of action, to say that I can go no longer act with the Republican party farther than they carry out these moral principles which have become almost a part of my existence, and which I deem of more importance than any mere party ties.

I only act for myself. Others are equally conscientious, and may act differently. I bind no man to my views or actions. I enter not into the arena of political strife. It is of little consequence to any but myself what may be my views or action upon this subject. I simply wish not to be misunderstood or misinterpreted by my temperance friends, with whom I have acted in harmony so many years.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills, will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care), that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond Street, New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover St., Boston, wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. jan'y 7 only

FROM WASHINGTON.

Death of Secretary Rawlins

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.

At 5 o'clock this morning Secretary Rawlins' cough was more troublesome and his respiration more difficult than earlier in the night. At 11 today he was asleep. One of the watchers at his bedside was Gen. J. E. Smith, of the Army. Nourishments and stimulants have frequently been administered to him, his physicians hoping by this means to sustain his fast waning strength until the return of the President, who is now expected this afternoon.

"Concord, Mass., Sept. 6.

"If General Rawlins is living convey to him the assurance of my respect and affection, and of the sorrow with which I learn the condition of a friend so highly valued—a man so upright, able and faithful. God bless and keep him.

(Signed) E. W. HOAR."

Washington, Sept. 6.

Secretary Rawlins expired at twelve minutes past 4 o'clock this P. M.

Today, $128,000 in fractional currency were received at the Treasury Department from the American Note Printing Co.

Hon. Wm. A. Field, Acting Attorney General, received the following telegram today from Attorney General Hoar:

New York Items

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.

The family of President Grant arrived in this city this afternoon, and will remain at Mr. Corbin's house until his return from Washington.

Wm. Morris was arrested today and held for examination on charge of swindling about a dozen firms in this city out of from $80,000 to $90,000 worth of merchandise purchased from them and shipped by his order, to Cincinnati, on his representation that he was the agent of Woods & Toleman, proprietors of the Cumberland Iron Works, Cumberland, Tenn. That firm repudiate Morris, and say he has never been authorized to do any business for them.

Fearful Catastrophe

SCRANTON, Sept. 6.

There is great excitement here in consequence of the burning of coal breakers at Avondale Mine in Plymouth, about 20 miles south of this city.

There are about 201 men and boys in the mine, and the shaft, which is the only means of escape, is choked up by 40 feet of burning coal and rubbish.

The ventilation is totally stopped and there are great fears that some, if not all, will be suffocated.

PLYMOUTH, Sept. 6.

A fire broke out this morning in the flue in the bottom of the Steuben shaft, owned by Delaware Lackawanna and the Western Railroad Company in this place, and in a short time the whole breakers and outbuildings were in flames, and the hoisting apparatus, the only avenue of escape for miners, was destroyed.

All efforts to stay the flames were unavailing, and the whole structure fell, partly filling up the shaft.

Over two hundred men are in the shaft and have no communication out, with no chance for air, as the only way of getting air into the shaft was through the main opening, and that was filled with burning timbers and debris.

The loss by fire will amount to about 100,000, which is partly covered by insurance.

All the physicians in this vicinity have been summoned to attend when the condition of the men is ascertained.

The affair has cast a gloom on the whole community.

LATER.

The latest information from Avondale Mine, state that the shaft was cleared and two men went down and penetrated 60 or 70 yards to the closed gangway door, which they could not force open.

They found three dead mules outside the door, and sulphurous fumes were pouring out through the door.

No signs of life were discovered, and it is feared all are dead.

Revenue Officer Shot

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 6.

Mr. Brooks, who was shot this morning, was a special United States Revenue officer on duty here.

The store in which he was shot was under seizure at the time.

No clue has been obtained of the assassins.

Mr. Brooks' wound will probably prove fatal.

Second Dispatch.

United States District Attorney Valentine states that a reward of $5,000 will be paid for the arrest and conviction of the assassin of Revenue Officer Brooks.

Suspected persons were pursued as far as Fairmount Park, where they were lost to sight.

Mr. Roberts is still alive.

It is believed the deed was committed by hired assassins.

Mr. Brooks was unable to recognize his assailant.

Fatal Accident.

BUFFALO, Sept. 6.

Michael Smith, employed in a machine shop in this city, struck a bombshell with a sledge-hammer, when the shell exploded, killing him instantly and mangling his body in a fearful manner.

It is not known how the shell came on the premises.

Marine Disaster

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.

The British iron bark, Harlech Castle, bound hence July 5 for Ignigue, Peru, with 1500 sacks barley, went ashore Aug 31 off Piedras Blancas, about 300 miles south of this port.

The vessel and cargo were a total loss. Crew saved.

CABLE NEWS.

Dublin, Sept. 6. Cardinal Cullen has ordered prayers of thanksgiving to be offered up in Catholic churches for the termination of religious ascendancy in Ireland.

The Patrick Murray Murder.

PORTLAND, Sept. 6.

The Coroner's Jury on the body of Patrick Murray, rendered a verdict that he was killed by being thrown down stairs by Shed and Murphy, clerk and landlord of Bradley's Hotel.

Fatal Accident.

AUGUSTA, Sept. 6.

Gilbert Hall, attempting to jump on a gravel train at Bryant Hill, on the Portland and Rochester Railroad this morning, fell between the cars and had both legs severed from his body. He died in a short time.

Monetary Affairs.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.

The money market to-day was active and the rate for call loans sharp at 7 per cent. The demand continued after 3 P. M. and caused considerable depression on the stock exchange. This activity in money was generally attributed to the gold room speculation, which absorb large amounts of currency.

Discounts dull and nominal.

Sterling Exchange remains in a demoralized condition. The nominal rates are 108¾ for prime bankers sterling bills at 60 days.

Gold market abated somewhat towards the close, latest quotations being at 137⅛ a 137⅜.

The rates paid for carrying to-day were from 2 to 6 per cent.

Gold exchange clearances were $109,000,000.

Government securities were weak and irregular. The following are the closing quotations—

United States Sixes (coupons)		1881		122¼

NEW FIRM. Mr. Samuel B. Stone, jr., of this city, and Mr. Orrin M. Brown, formerly of this city, but later in the dry goods trade at Boston, have formed a copartnership and will carry on the dry goods business at the old stand of Samuel B. Stone, Jr., & Co. His acquaintance with the business will undoubtedly make this a successful firm.

—The Committees on the Centennial Celebration will meet this evening at 7:30 in the Aldermen's room.

—The Republicans of Brewer and Orrington have nominated Charles Newcomb of Orrington for the Legislature.

—Harvey D. Clark Esq. has been nominated for Representative by the Republicans of Eddington and Holden.

—A dispatch received this afternoon states that Senator Fessenden continues about the same.

CHEAP BEEF. We notice that beef is being brought from Texas by steamers fitted up with refrigerators, which if proving successful will bring down the price and bring up the quality of beef in our larger cities. We have seen sample of beef put up in Texas in hermetically sealed cans, which opens well and is of good quality and comes considerably less than Western beef. The meat being put up free from bone, occupies much less space, and makes it valuable for the use of vessels or parties camping out.

PROF. PARSONS' "LAWS OF BUSINESS." Mr. R. L. Jackson will visit Bangor this week to canvass the city for the sale of Parsons' "Laws of Business" for business men. This is a newly revised work of seven hundred pages of useful matter as can be contained in a book for a commercial community. It contains forms and advice in legal matters that cannot be found elsewhere without extended study. Our farmers and mechanics should have it as a companion as convenient to them as to the commercial community. In fact it is useful for all classes, and will save many times its price in preventing litigation. Mr Jackson will, no doubt, meet with the success his object deserves.

—We are indebted to M. L. Averill, Esq., of Oldtown, for a photograph of the late unfortunate disaster on the Piscataquis railroad. It was taken immediately after the accident, and shows the broken bridge, the engine and the cars, piled in a confused mass. It is an excellent photograph.

POLICE COURT—Monday September 6th. Mrs Nappy Quigley was brought in on complaint for assaulting Mrs Catherine Johnson and fined $3 and costs, from which decision she appealed.

—Our police are coming out in a new uniform, fifty dollars each having been appropriated by the City Council for that purpose. They will probably make their first appearance upon the occasion of the Centennial celebration.

—The following patents have been issued to Maine inventors: W. F. Bacon, Skowhegan, Chuck; R. W. & M. C. Ayer, South Waterford, a preparation of Pumpkins and Squashes; C. W. Cahoon, Portland, Locomotive Engine; W. H. Pierce, Bangor, Mincing Machine.

—The Free Press states that last Sabbath a little child of F. J. Simonton of Rockland while left in a room on the second floor of his residence, shoved open a blind and fell out of the window to the ground. It landed among grass and bushes, and was somewhat injured, but is doing well.

—The Rockland Free Press learns that farmers in that vicinity who were fortunate enough to sow wheat, will obtain good crops.

—Tenney of the Telegraph, while speechifying at the Pemaquid celebration, was beguiled into believing a fish hawk was an eagle, as we find in the Rockland Free Press. Accidents will occur in the best regulated families.

—A correspondent of the Lewiston Journal writes that a ride over the Maine Central Railroad reminds us of the importance and value of this road. The road was first put under contract to be built in 1846, through a region where it seemed impossible for a road to succeed, but it kept on steadily increasing in value, until now it has become the Grand Trunk of Maine. The immense country in Eastern Maine is destined to find its outlet on this road. A person can now start from Portland after dinner, and at 9 p. m. find himself in Lincoln, 60 miles above Bangor. A stage ride of one day only now carries him to Calais. A further extension of the European Railway will only add to the business of the Maine Central. The Aroostook country must soon flow through this channel. It is in this direction where the greatest progress in developments of our State must be looked for. This road will control more territory than the whole of Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut."

—Dora Ricord of Kingfield, Me., a girl 18 years of age, drowned herself in the Suffolk Canal, Lowell, Mass, on Sunday morning. She left a note in her room as follows: "When you find this I shall be in heaven, and my body in the Merrimac River."

—Trawling and dog fish have driven away other fish at Harpswell off the ledges, so says the Bath Times.

—Mr. S. Edwards of Norridgewock, will get one hundred bushels of potatoes from a quarter of an acre, as we find in the Somerset Reporter.

—A child of Mr. Bennett, of Thomaston, aged about two years, was drowned in a hogshead of water, Aug. 31st, so says the Rockland Gazette.

—The Portland Press says that S. P. Mayberry puts on exhibition at the State Fair, a trace of corn raised in 1802 by Richard Mayberry of Gorham, Me.

—The Press says that Mr. Howe, the chief clerk of the Portland Post Office, has made arrangements for the collection and delivery of mail matter on the ground twice each day during the Fair—at 11 o'clock A. M., and 4:45 P. M.

—The great Utopia sea monster is now being brought from the Provinces, whereof its owner has been exhibiting it with marked success. It will be on exhibition at Portland this week.

—Rev. Geo. K. Shaw, formerly Register of Probate of Oxford county, and for several years past a clerk in Washington, has been engaged as editor of the Maine Democrat, the paper recently edited by Smart at Biddeford.

—A farmer who is accustomed to observe close, and has good opportunities for observation, tells the Lewiston Journal that on the whole, the crops will turn out better than last year. The grain crop is excellent while the hay crop if not quite so heavy is much better than last year.

—Capt. Emory Smith, of schooner Volant (sixty tons burden) landed from Carver's Harbor three full cargoes of stone—rough granite—at Capt. Geo. Brown's wharf in Rockland, in six working days ending Saturday night last, and returned with the fourth cargo on Tuesday morning of last week, so says the Gazette.

MORE DECLINATIONS. The Lewiston Journal, says that O. G. Douglas, Esq., of Lewiston, who was nominated as candidate for Sheriff by the Third Party Convention, declines that nomination. E C Farrington, Esq. of Fryeburg, who was nominated as candidate for the State Senate by the same party, declines that nomination.

A. L. Burbank, Esq., who was nominated by the Third Party Convention for Oxford County for Clerk of Courts, declines the nomination. The Republican party having endorsed the prohibiting principle, and the enforcement of the law, Mr. B thinks that temperance men will accomplish more by acting with that party than in dividing their ranks by a new party movement.

—To give some idea of the number of people who will be in Portland this week, the Press states that twenty rooms have been engaged by parties from Bangor at Cape Cottage during the Fair.

—A. W Stuart, late of Etna, has been elected Superintendent of the Capital School, Des Moines, Iowa, at a salary of $150 per month.

—The ice business of the Saco River is fast getting to be a leading business in Saco and Biddeford. This year Mr Black has filled to their utmost capacity his four immense ice houses upon the wharf, and vessels have been loading during the season, freighting it away to Philadelphia, Norfolk, Charleston and down the coast, as we find in the Journal.

—The Brunswick Telegraph says the most remarkable fact connected with the whole settlement known as Pemaquid, and from which many relics have been obtained, is, that while people can tell of its ruins, not one knows or has heard of the settlement itself. This fact and the depth of soil (an average of one foot) under which these ruins are buried, suggests to some antiquarian that the settlement at Pemaquid, precedes the English settlements of the early part of the 17th century.

—President Grant says he wants to come to the New England Fair. Prince Arthur and the Governor General of Canada are also expected.

—The Gospel Banner learns that the Universalists of Newport are thinking of having preaching a portion of the time.

—The Twenty third Annual Convention of the Delta Kappa Epsilon Fraternity will be held with Theta Chapter, at Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Me. on the 6th and 7th of October next. Public exercises and supper on Thursday evening, the 6th. The President of the occasion will be Josiah H. Drummond, graduate of Colby University, '46; Orator, George Pratt, Yale, '57; Poet, Charles C. Fuller, Rochester, '68. The undergraduate committee are D S Alexander, B R Melcher, W E Frost and J W Keene.

—Miss Mary W Mitchell a graduate of Bates College, and the first female graduate from any N E College, has opened a private school in Kennebunk for young masters and misses. Miss Mitchell has declined a flattering offer to take charge of a high school in Illinois, intending at the close of her present term to go to Germany to further pursue her studies, says the Lewiston Journal.

—The Triumph Engine Company of Biddeford, not being allowed to leave the city, have challenged the winner of the prize at the Firemen's Tournament at Augusta last week.

—Capt O E Bartlett of Skowhegan, late of the 31st Maine Regiment, has been appointed mail agent on the P & K Railroad, vice E Kenniston, says the Press.

—A correspondent writes the Me. Farmer that Messrs Jones & Tozier, of Fairfield, have sold their three year old colt, "Honest John," to Rodney Jones of that town, for $1,300. Good judges call him the most promising colt in the State. He weighs 1050 pounds, stands fifteen and one-half hands high, and shows rare speed. Mr Jones will exhibit him at the New England Fair.

A MAINE CAPTAIN IN TROUBLE. It was stated in the Marine Journal of the Advertiser last week, under the head of disasters, that on Monday, August 23, the schooner L T Knight, belonging to John McIntyre of Camden, Me., left Philadelphia with 300 tons of coal, bound for Salem, Mass. On Sunday, the 29th of August, she was picked up off Barnegat, sixty miles from land, by the schooner Fanny Blake, abandoned and leaking. A crew was put on board and she was worked into Newport, R. I. Here it was found that several holes had been bored in her run, through to the water, and it is believed they were made with the design of sinking the vessel.

The matter has since been investigated to some extent, and on Saturday the captain of the schooner, Eben T. Smith of Rockland, Maine, the mate, David Carter, and three seamen, were arrested by Detective Hoods and the harbor police, the former on suspicion of having scuttled the vessel. All the parties were lodged in the Cambridge street jail, the crew being held as witnesses against the captain.

Captain Smith declares his innocence; says that the vessel began leaking and continued doing so so fast that the pumps were inadequate to relieve her. He affirms his innocence of the existence of the holes in her run, and says he knows nothing of their origin; and, that he was finally obliged to abandon her, which he did, being picked up shortly afterwards by a brig which brought himself and crew to Boston. The vessel was pumped up thirteen hours after being abandoned, is considered worth $6,000, and was insured for $2,600. It is not known that the captain could have had any motive for destroying the vessel.—[Boston Advertiser.

The new Hudson River Railroad depot in New York has been adorned during the month by a work of art at once colossal and unique. It is no less than a representation in bronze of the life and triumphs of Commodore Vanderbilt, covering an area of upwards of three thousand square feet, and executed at a cost of half a million dollars. The statue itself, in the centre of the edifice, [illegible] described as the largest in America but one in the world—represents the Commodore with head uncovered, wearing a heavy fur trimmed overcoat, his left [illegible] partly extended. The attitude is said to be easy and dignified, the countenance benign and the likeness extraordinarily perfect. The marine life and the railroad life of the commodore are symbolically represented on the right and left. The elaborate work was conceived by Capt. Albert Degroot, and executed in a foundry built for the purpose under the immediate attention of Ernest Plassman, the artist. The work is to be unveiled with appropriate inauguration ceremonies on the 1st of October next.

THE LATEST DODGE. A very ingenious trick, by which a gang of swindlers are making money by mutilating national bank notes of the denomination of five dollars, consists of making ten bills out of nine, and is so managed that there is but one pasting to each of the manufactured notes. The nine whole bills are taken, and from the right of the first, one-tenth is sliced off; from the right of the second two-tenths; from the right of the third three-tenths, and so on to number nine; from which nine-tenths are taken from the right, or what amounts to the same thing, one-tenth from the left. Number one is passed as it is, with a tenth gone from the right; the one-tenth taken from number one is pasted to the residue of number two, from which two-tenths had been taken; these two-tenths are made to answer the place of the three-tenths taken from number three, and so on through. Thus nine five dollar notes are completed, leaving the original number nine, with a tenth gone from the left, as a tenth note. It will be seen that but a tenth is gone from each bill, and in a different place on every one, and a little ingenious pasting makes the loss imperceptible to ordinary observers. It is certain that large numbers of these mutilated bills have been circulated.

Official information has reached Washington that the President of Peru has issued a decree for a public exhibition at Lima in December 1870, of agricultural and manufactured products, including models of machinery, native and foreign. Two hundred and thirty thousand dollars in gold are appropriated for premiums and expenses.

The New York Tribune comes out in favor of the removal of the National Capital. New York is its first choice, but its motto is anywhere but at Washington. It thinks the St. Louis Convention should be patronized as a means of stopping any more costly expenditures upon public buildings in Washington.

—The Western cars were two hours late last evening, the detention being caused by the destruction of the bridge at West Waterville on Saturday evening.

—A wealthy German merchant in Indiana has insured his life for the benefit of the poor of the town.

R. HOE & CO., MANUFACTURERS OF WARRANTED Extra Cast Steel Patent Ground Circular Mill Mulay and Gang SAWS!

CIRCULAR SAWS, WITH MOVABLE OR INSERTED TEETH

We claim for our Patent Circular Saw the following advantages over all other: The shanks of the teeth are elastic, and exert a uniform distension in the socket. The stability of the plate is in no way affected by inserting new sets of teeth. Each tooth independently, may be adjusted to the cutting line. No rivets, keys, or other objectionable appliances are employed in connection with the teeth which are as simple in construction, and as easily used as a nut for a bolt. In short, all the difficulties heretofore experienced in the use of movable teeth for saws, are fully met and obviated by this invention.

Dental Card. Dr. J. F. BABCOCK, (From the Pennsylvania College of Dental Surgery,) SURGEON DENTIST, No. 9 Ohio Street, Bangor, Contemplates, returning to Philadelphia about the middle of October next to be absent during the following four months.

He makes this announcement for the benefit of many who have consulted him in regard to operations which they propose having performed during the winter months, as well as for the information of any who may desire his services previous to his leaving.

He takes much pride in being able to state that out of the very large number of aching teeth—aching from every cause, including Periostitis, Ulceration, and Nerve Exposure—which he has treated during the last summer and spring, that in no single case has he failed to relieve the pain instantly, not destroying the life of the nerve when exposed,—the death of which is eminently dangerous to the vitality of the whole tooth,—and in no single instance has he failed to permanently preserve the tooth in as healthy a condition, in every respect as any of its fellows.

All diseases of the mucous membrane of the mouth successfully treated as usual.

When fitting the mouth for artificial teeth—it being the only condition under which he extracts—the operation will be performed with the least possible pain, ether being administered to suitable patients when desired.

Dr. B. returns his sincere thanks to his patients for the unexpectedly large practice which he has obtained to a great extent through their influence, and trusts through faithful service and earnest endeavor to give the utmost satisfaction to all who decide to employ him as their dentist.

N. B.—All charges will be moderate, and deserving persons unable to pay the regular charges for artificial teeth, will meet with very favorable consideration. sept11 tf

VALUABLE TIMBER LANDS AND MILL PROPERTY FOR SALE.

THE subscriber, desirous of disposing of all his interest in Timber Lands and mills, will sell on favorable terms the following:

One-Half, Township No 5, Range 4, Oxford County.

The whole township contains twenty-six thousand (26,000) acres; is heavily timbered with spruce, estimated at sixty to eighty millions, all of which stands within near and easy hauling distance of the Magalloway river or its branches, which runs through the town, or Parmachena Lake, which is embraced within its limits.

Also 16,000 Acres of Land in the Town of Byron Oxford Co., well covered with large Spruce timber. Swift river and its branches run through these lands and empty into the Androscoggin below Rumford Falls.

Also 1100 Acres Timber and Wood Land in Town of Gorham, N. H., two miles above the Alpine House, on the line of the Grand Trunk Railroad, and the banks of the Androscoggin river. There is a large quantity of wood on these lots which, from its proximity to the Railroad, is steadily increasing in value.

Also 2500 Acres Lands in the Towns of Albany and Stoneham, near the village of North Waterford, Oxford County. This land is covered with thrifty sapling Pine timber, standing near Crooked river, which runs through the tracts. Logs put into Crooked river can be run to Saccarappa, or by hauling four to five miles they can be put into the Saco. There is a good mill privilege, with a single saw mill on the tract; distance to the canal at Harrison ten miles; to the railroad at South Paris twelve miles. The land is valuable for settling purposes after being cleared of timber.

Also 485 Shares of Stock in the Lewiston Steam Mill Company, the whole capital stock being represented by 537 shares. The property of the company consists of a Steam Saw Mill, capable of manufacturing five million feet of long lumber, with a proportionate amount of clapboards, shingles and laths. About fifteen acres land in the city of Lewiston, well located for building purposes, and thirty thousand acres of timber land, well located on the Androscoggin river, and its branches, from which but a small quantity of the timber has been cut.

Miscellany.

The Daffodils.

I wander'd lonely as a cloud
That floats on high o'er vales and hills,
When all at once I saw a crowd,
A host of golden daffodils,
Beside the lake, beneath the trees,
Fluttering and dancing in the breeze.

Continuous as the stars that shine
And twinkle on the milky way,
They stretch'd in never-ending line
Along the margin of a bay:
Ten thousand saw I at a glance
Tossing their heads in sprightly dance.

The waves beside them danced, but they
Outdid the sparkling waves in glee:—
A poet could not but be gay
In such a jocund company:
I gazed—and gazed—but little thought
What wealth the show to me had brought.

For oft, when on my couch I lie,
In vacant or in pensive mood,
They flash upon that inward eye
Which is the bliss of solitude;
And then my heart with pleasure fills,
And dances with the daffodils.

WORDSWORTH.

Story of the War.

HOW A PRIVATE CAPTURED A GUERILLA HORSE.

"I should really like to hear, Hathorn," I said, "the story of your adventures on that night when you left us so mysteriously and came back so peculiarly."

I was talking to Jack Hathorn, late a private in one of the fighting infantry regiments of the Nineteenth Army Corps. Jack and I were old friends in the war—he belonged to the same regiment that I was attached to before my staff appointment came, and I liked him so well that, after that occurrence, I contrived to have him detailed for my orderly. I confess that I liked Jack thoroughly, and thanks there was rather less distance between us than the strict etiquette of military rule regulated. Upon this present occasion I was riding down the Valley Pike on a tour of duty, with Jack following, when, feeling socially inclined, I called to him to ride up by my side, and asked him for the particulars of a certain military adventure that I had heard much about. Private Hathorn was an intelligent and educated man, as well as a good soldier, and I can do my friends no better service than by giving the narrative in his own language:

"It was one night," he said, 'in July, 1863, that our army, stopped short in their flight away from Washington, recrossed the Shenandoah river at Snicker's Ferry and bivouacked at the foot of the Blue Ridge. We had hardly begun to doze in our rubber blankets when that raschly sergeant-major routed us up with the news that we were to take the road immediately for Washington. It makes my bones ache now to think of that moment. We had marched at the rate of twenty miles a day for three days over those dusty, stony Maryland hills, our poor brains and whitish boiled with the frightful heat of that scorched city I never know; we had marched early and marched late, and as for sleep—God only knows how we suffered for want of it! Hunger we could bear quite easily, even with our scanty supply of hard tack, but to be called up in the dead of the night after our dreadful fatigues, and compelled to march again—

"Well, being soldiers, we could bear that too; but I don't think there is anything in campaigning so full of cold misery as this. There was very little consolation in the idea that we had come out here on a wild-goose chase and having lost the game, that we were now to pump off, as the boys used to say, for Washington again. Well, how it was, why it was, who could tell, and so we did what was bidden—we obeyed orders, and sleepily got into our accoutrements, picked up our muskets, fell in for roll call, faced by fours and were quickly part of a long column of dark figures footing it wearily, up the steep incline that led into the mighty wonder, Snicker's Gap of the Blue Ridge. The mountains towered up on either hand above us, and the Gap, appearing like a great ragged chasm torn through them by some world-old convulsion was dark and gloomy in the night, with only a star-belt now and then painstilating along a bright musket-barrel to lighten the way.

"Tramp, tramp, tramp went the dark long column up into the Gap, over the great boulders which lay thickly along the road, and so down the declivity on the other side and into the starlight again. We halted but a few moments then pushed on—not on the road to White's Ford, but taking a southeasterly direction, which we understood would lead us to Loesburg.

"You know the terrible march that poor columnlived all that night, Cap, and until ten o'clock the next morning, with a very few rests of a very few moments each. It was dreadful. I often shudder now to think how we suffered, tired and footsore as we were—thirsty, too, with the water in our canteens all used up the first hour, so hot and sultry the night, and so sleepy most of us, that we actually slept on the march, keeping our feet only because the pressure of those around us enabled us to do it, and staggering on through the weary hours, grimly silent, grinding our teeth in our misery, in the true soldier spirit and bear it way, and sleeping and waking by turns, as we marched. I declare upon my honor, Cap., that I slept at least half the time on that march, between one o'clock and daylight!

"Before we had passed the Gap, staff officers were riding from the head to the rear of the long column, enjoining every company officer to take the utmost care to keep his men from straggling.

"A troop of Mosby's men were hanging about the Pass before we bivouacked. We heard one of them say to my captain, and they will hearten us, and around us all night. Keep your men in column, if you have to do it with the bayonet. If they straggle to-night, they'll straggle to Belle Isle and Andersonville! Tell them what the danger is, and keep them up at full hazards."

"We were a little more wakeful after we heard that; and our captain repeated it to us with alterations and additions.

"I'll tell you what it is man," says he, "I like every one of you almost like a brother, and I won't be rough with you if I can help it; but dang my buttons (and Captain Bissell never said that except when he was tremendously excited) if I catch one of you falling out, or leaving the ranks, I'll have him kicked down the company and court-martialed as soon as we get into camp—if we ever do. Those devils in Mosby's ate after us, and if we don't look alive they'll have a dozen of us before morning."

"Capt. Bissell's hasty estimate fell short of the truth. From fifteen to twenty soldiers were captured that night from the column by the guerillas! How it could be I think my word will satisfactorily explained when you have heard it for enough.

"We were a little more wakeful, I said, after we had heard that the guerillas were hanging about the column, but it did not last long. Nature would assert herself, and after a time we were stumbling along again, half dozed and sleepy, wishing unutterable things to all rebels, from Jeff Davis down to the smallest drummer-boy in his service. Occasionally some one's dry joker would cause a diversion and raise a feeble laugh, by singing out lustily, 'Boys, here's the price of feather beds!' and tragic, 'Hillon, Company G, ain't it most bed-time?' A chap who had evidently read Tennyson was heard from with the words 'Not much call on sack to-morrow, mother!' and I declare I felt for a minute like thrashing him on the spot for it.

"I think it must have been about three o'clock—and pretty dark too, it was—when I woke up from the fitful snooze, and found myself moving along slowly with the column, and everybody silent as about me; and obedience to pressing upon me with terrible pain—the cruel sensation of thirst. It seemed as though I must sink down to the ground with faintness, and lie there until some one should bring me a drink of water. Every drop had been drained from my canteen an hour before, nobody about me had any left, and many of them were suffering as acutely of thirst as I was. And such suffering! I can't describe it and won't attempt to. My throat and tongue were parched and dry, my head reeled, and my legs threatened to sink under me; nothing, I verily believe, but the fear of falling into the hands of the guerillas kept me in the column a moment longer.

"Just then I happened to notice a mounted man walking his horse along with the column near me. I had taken no particular notice of him, though I believe he had been riding there some little time. I took him at first, from his blue overcoat, for one of my many staff officers, of whom there were here and there along the column, making sure, by personal observation, that the men were not straggling. I had ceased to notice him, or think anything more about him, and was at the height of my suffering from thirst, when he, drawing his horse in close by me, and bending over toward me, he said in a low voice:

"'I suppose you're thirsty enough, comrade?'

"I'm almost dead for a drink of water," I replied. "If you've got any in your canteen, let me have a little."

"I haven't got any myself, but I know where some can be got, in less than one minute."

"Where?"

"He hesitated a moment, and then whispered: 'Around my horse's neck follows listening to us?'

"No, I replied, rather wondering at the question. 'They are all dozing. Why?'

"Because it is not best that they should hear what I'm going to say. I always like to do a comrade a good turn when I can, but it wouldn't do to let them all know what I'm telling you. I belong to General Wright's cavalry, sir,' and my horse fell lame awhile ago, and has gradually fallen behind. I am pledged all over this country a year ago, and I know this road by heart. Do you see that house on the left of the road, just ahead? There is a spring of water back of it, not fifty yards from the road. I'm going there to fill my stomach and my canteen. I'll show you, too, if you like.'

"The temptation was too strong for me. Nobody was observing me. I could quietly drop out, visit the spring, relieve my suffering, and rejoin the regiment in ten minutes, and no one would be the wiser. It wasn't the part of a good soldier to think so or do so, but you know what such a temptation is to a man in the miserable condition I was in then.

"The guerillas,' I said, fortifying my doubt to myself rather than addressing the words to the bandsman. He interrupted me instantly:

"'Sh! sh! I'm not so easily frightened. I don't suppose there is one of them within half a mile; and if there is, I guess there is no danger in getting a drink of water by the way. Here's the place, and I'm going in; you'd better come too, for I don't know of other good water between here and Leesburg.'

"The man drew his horse away from the column and rode broadside out upon into. Unperceived I left the rank, and followed him. I entered the yard and looked back, and then at this short distance, in the obscurity of the night, the individual figures were so blended together that the column seemed passing slowly by, like a great dark mass, without an unevenness, undulating sound or feet in the soft, thick dust. I hurried away after my guide, and found him waiting for me at the corner of the house.

"This way,' he said, 'just a few steps more.'

"I followed him behind the house, and the barn-yard, and behind the barn, where he halted.

"'Where's the spring?' I inquired, straining my eyes in the darkness.

"He answered in a tone of voice that startled me. I looked up to him, and he had the muzzle of a cocked pistol (two inches of my own) between my eyes!

"I believe that I fell on my knees. I could not do more at first. I was too startled for a word, but he spoke before I could find anything.

"'Don't be frightened,' he whispered; 'you are my prisoner, and I don't be silly enough to cry out and bring a band notice or I'll shoot you through the head. Take the spiritual your gun,' he added, I did not clearly see what else he said, for my wits were under the circumstances, quite demoralizing; the dangerous proximity of that savage-looking pistol at my head.

"Put the hammer down gently before, sheath it, and walk straight backwards and clumsy of trees and rocks or so over yonder. If you can't do all, then go straight for the north star, and I will shoot you as you go, and I want you to understand that the least attempt to escape, or raise an alarm, I will put a bullet through your head. Now, march!'
